

Turning vision into action: next steps in tackling the climate crisis'

Session 1: 'Cross-sectoral collaboration:
working across value chains to fight
climate change'

20th September 2023

9:30am - 1pm

The Conduit, 6 Langley St,
London WC2H 9JA

Speakers

Chloe Lewis | CGLN | Youth Advisory Councilmember for Agriculture (Moderator)

Chloe is an environmental specialist at Anglo American Crop Nutrients where I work with a talented team of scientists to re-imagine crop nutrition as it is seen today. Having achieved her Master's in Carbon Management, her professional goal is to actualise the full potential of the agricultural system in boosting biodiversity and removing greenhouse gases, potentially creating a net-negative system.

Aimie Keeler | Anglo American | Principal Sustainability Marketing

Aimie works within the Marketing business of Anglo American, supporting the delivery of Anglo American's Sustainable Mining Plan. She works with our partners and customers to champion action and deliver the highest levels of sustainability performance. Aimie has a passion for sustainability and is known in the office for advocating for cycling, trains and going veggie!

Tony Heslop | BASF | Senior Sustainability Manager

Tony originally studied polymer science at Loughborough University and worked for several companies in the chemical industry before joining BASF in its pressure sensitive adhesives business. More recently, Tony has taken on the responsibility of implementing BASF's sustainability strategy on a local basis. Tony is passionate about Chemistry and its ability to enable innovation and develop products for the world around us.

Nathan Cole | CDP | Senior Manager, Sustainable Supply Chains (UK and Worldwide)

As Senior Manager of CDP's Supply Chain program, Nathan supports key corporate disclosers to drive action through their supply chain and tackle their Scope 3 emissions. Previously Nathan led CDP's Reporter Services program where he supported disclosers in building capacity on disclosure and drive improvements in their disclosure quality by helping corporate disclosers better understand the reporting requirements and guiding them towards best practice actions.

Turning vision into action: next steps in tackling the climate crisis'

Session 2: 'Financing the future: boosting climate investment'

20th September 2023

9:30am - 1pm

The Conduit, 6 Langley St,
London WC2H 9JA

Speakers

Om Nagle | CGLN | Youth Advisory Councilmember for Climate Finance (Moderator)

Om is a climate-focused policy student with a passion for finance, law and strategic communication. He is currently pursuing a Master of Public Administration degree at LSE, where he is currently exploring the unique intersection of public policy, capital markets and decarbonisation for furthering climate action.

Claire Dorrian | London Stock Exchange Group | Head of Sustainable Finance, Capital Markets and Post Trade

Claire is responsible for the portfolio of sustainable finance products and services across London Stock Exchange Group's Capital Markets and Post Trade business divisions. She has played an important role in Group-wide sustainable finance initiatives such as the development of model guidance on ESG and climate disclosure, climate reporting training for listed companies and initiatives such as the Green Economy Mark

Elena Mariotti | Cerberus Capital | Managing Director, ESG

Elena is a Managing Director on Cerberus' Environmental Social Governance (ESG) team. Ms. Mariotti joined Cerberus in 2022 and works across our portfolio companies, desks, and investments to help implement evolving ESG and sustainability initiatives that deliver cost effective quantitative and qualitative results.

Courtney Lowrance | Citibank | Managing Director, Sustainability and Corporate Transitions

Courtney leads Citi's Sustainability and Corporate Transitions team for Europe, Middle East, and Africa. She has 20 years of experience in sustainability, including a previous role as the global head of Citi's Environmental and Social Risk Management (ESRM) group. In this capacity, she served as a technical resource for clients in improving their environmental and social management systems.

Turning vision into action: next steps in tackling the climate crisis'

Session 3: 'Are we adequately preparing the climate leaders of tomorrow?'

20th September 2023

9:30am - 1pm

The Conduit, 6 Langley St,
London WC2H 9JA

Speakers

Emma Collingbine | CGLN | Senior Programme Manager

Emma leads all relationship management activities for all the fellows, partners & members, and works to design, implement and coordinate CGLN programmes. Emma comes from a policy background, having spent the six years prior to her joining the CGLN as a senior researcher across both Houses of Parliament.

Oli De Botton | The Careers and Enterprise Company | CEO

Oli is the CEO of The Careers & Enterprise Company – the national body for careers education. Prior to this he was a Headteacher at a school which pioneered new ways of working with employers - including the introduction of extended work placements for all Year 10s and 12s. He also co-founded the national charity Voice 21 which works with schools to promote and develop the skill of speaking in young people. He has also worked in education policy and strategy as a government education advisor.

Shraddha Nair | YOUNGO Energy and Governance Coordinator

Shraddha is a professional energy & climate policy consultant with over 5 years of work experience in creating growth strategies, managing projects and clients internationally, and working on project appraisals in the energy market, economic and financial modelling, and energy. She is also an active member of the Renewable Energy & NDC working groups within YOUNGO and Policy Director at Young Women in Sustainable Development. She aids start-ups across globe leading them into a green economy focusing on just transition.

Sophie Daud | Future Leaders Network | Chief Executive

Having volunteered with the Future Leaders Network since 2016, she was appointed as Chief Executive Officer in 2019 and took up her role full time in 2020. In 2021, she was also appointed as Chair of the Youth 7 (Y7). In 2022, Sophie co-founded the Youth Negotiators Academy, whose first programme, the Climate Youth Negotiator Programme, worked with 26 countries and trained more than 50 young diplomats to negotiate and represent their countries at COP27.